

Attractions management

VOL 16 Q3 2011

THE PERFORMANCE ROLLERCOASTER

THE ANNUAL TEA/AECOM THEME INDEX SHOWS HOW ATTENDANCES FARED IN 2010

JIM REID-ANDERSON

HOW SIX FLAGS WENT FROM BANKRUPTCY TO INCREASING REVENUE IN TWO YEARS

AGE OF THE DINOSAUR

THE NATURAL HISTORY MUSEUM BRINGS THESE PREHISTORIC CREATURES TO LIFE

SEE THE LIGHT

THE PROS AND CONS OF USING LED LIGHTING WITHIN ATTRACTION DISPLAYS AND SHOWS

Turkey waterpark launches new ride

TOM WALKER

Aqua Fantasy Waterpark – part of Aqua Fantasy Hotel and Spa near Izmir, Turkey – has unveiled its latest ride, which has been designed especially for the attraction.

Istanbul-based Polin has designed, manufactured and installed the 14.7m (48.2ft)-high experience, which comprises a double-tube slide with twin uphill sections.

The addition of the new ride comes a year after two other experiences were installed at the park by Polin.

Aqua Fantasy Waterpark manager Muharrem Atilla said: “Due to the high amount of excitement that the two slides we added last year brought, we were interested in adding another slide from Polin.”

IMAGE: POLIN

The new 14.7m-high, double-tube slide has twin uphill sections

Polin senior architect Zeynep Canbaz added: “The great thing about this design is that it uses the same tower as the previous slides and it works without water jets. This lowers the operating costs of the waterpark.”