 The large surf attraction from Polin

Polin

The Turkish water slide manufacturer Polin can look back on a very successful year: alone in Europe 47 projects could be concluded, among them the novelty "Hybrid Dragero" at a French water park, explained Mrs Sohret Pakis. In the meantime the world's largest artificial surf-wave attraction could be erected in Peru (in co-operation with American Wave Machines Inc), on which the Peruvian national team trains.

Currently the very optically appealing water slide by the name of "King Cobra" (see KPR 9/2011) is developing into a real sales hit: after this year's installation at Cobra Kingdom (Turkey) and at Djubga Waterpark (Russia), three "King Cobras" are going to Asia next year, two to the Middle East, and one to America.
